Eyal Oren

Netherlands eyal.oren@gmail.com

Experience

Sabbatical — Gilze, NL
Taking a break, renovating our 100-year old farmhouse, mostly by hand. — 2024 - Present

Google, Group Product Manager (L6-7.5) — Mountain View, CA
2017 - 2023
Founded medical records team and scaled from research into 250+ people organization. Led development of AI-powered tool for physicians and underlying data and ML platform. Personally closed strategic partnerships with world-leading health systems. Co-lead on seminal research publications on medical AI. Promoted twice in two years. Awarded 3 patents.

- "Absolutely critical [..] an exceptional leader" (Google Senior Fellow)
- "Superhero [..] whatever required to get the job done" (Distinguished Scientist)
- "Outstanding communicator [..] in the top-1% I have seen" (Chief Health Officer)
- "The most effective PM I ever worked with" (Principal Engineer)

Google, Senior Product Manager (L4-5) — Mountain View, CA
2013 - 2017
Started on Display targeting, reversed revenue decline, promoted to YouTube ads quality lead. Co-founded team that rewrote the YouTube ads stack from ground up, grew from 3 to 200+ people. Led highest-impact quality launches in YouTube history (e.g., +37% vtr). Promoted twice in one year. Awarded 2 patents.

- "Biggest ads quality launches on YT, ever" (VP of Engineering)
- "Absolute rockstar [..] performed superbly" (PM Sr Director)
- "Better grasp of YT quality than most engineers" (Google Fellow)
- "Force of nature [..] impressive & spectacular" (Principal Engineer)

McKinsey & Company, Engagement Manager — Amsterdam, NL
2009 - 2013
Lead or participated in 15+ projects, mostly focused on product development in high-tech. Praised for excellent team leadership, analytical skills and presentation style. Rated as top-5% performer.

VU Amsterdam / DERI Galway, Postdoc / PhD researcher — multiple 2004 - 2009
Over 35 publications on data and AI. Supervised PhD and MSc students, lead open-source software, won multiple competitions. Spin-off became Siren.io, a mid-sized analytics business.

Education

PhD National University of Ireland, Galway, Computer Science — Galway, IE
2004 - 2007
- Thesis: Algorithms and Components for the Semantic Web
- Visiting scholar: Stanford University (USA), Innsbruck University (Austria)

MSc TU Delft (Netherlands), Computer Science — Delft, NL
1997 - 2003
- Thesis grade: 9 (scale 1-10)

Skills

Languages: Dutch (fluent), English (fluent), German (good), Hebrew (good), French (basic)

Technical: Proficient in data analysis (SQL, Python, R, Dremel), full-stack familiarity (Ruby, Rust, C++, Java, Go)

Presentation: Many keynotes and public talks (1000+ audiences)

Awards

At Google, received many recognitions for outstanding leadership, consistently achieved highest ratings (Superb / Strongly Exceeds), received personal praise from C-level executives and my promo packet was twice tagged as 'exemplary' for all of Google. Consistently rated as top-5% performer at McKinsey. In academia, won several best paper awards. Nominated for Ireland's "PhD of the year". Received TU Delft scholarship.